Through research, programs and cooperation, helps poor hillside farmers in Honduras to improve their main crops of maize and beans

Worked in the community with poor hillside farmers and the Honduran NGO to assess the impact of the farmer participatory research program

Research Funded by

Canadian International Development Agency

International Development Research Centre

www.uoguelph.ca/ids