FURNITURE PROVISION IN GUELPH AND WELLINGTON COUNTY

INTRODUCTION

RESEARCH GOALS
This report has been developed and completed by the Research Shop with the support of the Guelph and Wellington Task force for Poverty Elimination. The purpose of this report is to explore furniture provision in Guelph and Wellington, the potential need for a Furniture Bank and propose recommendations for moving forward. This report has been developed to explore the impact of the elimination and redistribution of the Community Startup and Maintenance Benefit (CSUMB) that occurred in the 2012 Ontario budget cuts. These changes have the potential to impact the accessibility of low cost and no cost furniture for individuals with lived experiences of poverty.

The research objectives, which were developed in collaboration between the Poverty Task Force (PTF) and the Research Shop, were:

- To explore the scope of the need for furniture bank in Guelph and Wellington by establishing what elements of the current provision of furniture may be working well, and what elements may need improvement;
- To utilize the input of furniture providers and service providers in Guelph and Wellington to establish recommendations for a Guelph-based model.

The following report will provide a background of the current furniture provision in Guelph and Wellington, a discussion of the methods used in to gather qualitative data with various furniture providers and service providers, outline the results of the research, and make some preliminary recommendations for the community.

BACKGROUND
Furniture Banks (FBs) are not-for-profit organizations designed to provide free, quality used household furnishings to individuals and families in need (Furniture Bank Association of North America, 2012). According to the Furniture Bank Association of North America, there are six recognized FBs across Canada, including one in British Columbia, one in Nova Scotia, and four in Ontario (2012). Based on these organizations, the elements that make up furniture banks are:

- Organizational Model: Each FB operates with a different organizational model. For example, the Toronto Furniture Bank is a social purpose enterprise that seeks to provide skills training to marginalized individuals, and the Mississauga Furniture Bank operates through an online database facilitated by community organizations.
- Community Partnerships: FBs typically operate in partnership with community organizations. The level of involvement of these organizations varies depending on the FB. Several FBs are partnered with local educational institutions for fundraising activities and support through donations.
• Eligibility Process: Each FB has a distinct set of eligibility criteria, although some are more transparent and accessible. For example, at the Homestart Furniture Bank in Vancouver service providers refer clients to the bank. The service providers conduct home visits with clients to determine their eligibility for furniture.

• Funding: All six of the FBs are funded through a combination of public and private funding; some FBs have partnerships with businesses for specific furniture needs (ex. mattresses).

• Transportation: Most FBs provide delivery, although some will charge a fee depending on the distance as well as the size and amount of items being delivered. Most FBs also provided pick-up of donated items at a cost.

• Health and Safety: Some FBs maintain a public health policy to maintain quality of furniture items and avoid the spread of bed bugs. For example, at the Toronto Furniture Bank employees receive training to inspect donated items and vehicles are regularly cleaned.

For a more detailed explanation of each FB and the services they provide, please see Appendix I.

There is no formal FB in Guelph and Wellington. However, there are several independently operated low cost and no cost furniture providers in Guelph and Wellington that provide furniture. These include the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, Habitat for Humanity (ReStore), and the Salvation Army. Individuals in the Guelph and Wellington area in need of furniture can also access second-hand stores, garage and lawn sales, and online databases, such as Kijiji, to obtain furniture at low prices. However, prices are often still not affordable for individuals with lived experiences of poverty.

FUNDING AND POLICY CHANGES IN GUELPH AND WELLINGTON: THE HOUSING STABILITY PROGRAM (HSP)

The Community Start-Up and Maintenance Benefit (CSUMB) was a provincial program available to individuals on social assistance to help pay for necessities (including furniture) needed to start up a new home, stay in a current home, or protect the health and well-being of residents (CLEO, 2011). CSUMB was eliminated and redistributed in the 2012 Provincial budget, and the municipal government became responsible for administering roughly 50% of funding once offered through CSUMB to the Guelph and Wellington area. Beginning in January 2013, the County of Wellington launched the Housing Stability Programme (HSP) (County of Wellington, 2013). This program focuses on two main areas of support: helping individuals who are homeless to obtain housing and helping individuals retain existing housing, through the provision of funds for last month’s rent, rental arrears, utility deposits, utility arrears or moving costs.
The tighter restrictions called for by the HSP have left a gap that the County of Wellington had anticipated when making the policy changes: funds provided through the HSP cannot be used towards furniture or appliances. Many clients in Guelph and Wellington relied on the funds from CSUMB to obtain furniture and appliances; thus in prioritizing funding for rent payments, rental arrears, or moving arrears over furniture and appliances, the clients who relied on the CSUMB are now unable to access the pathways to obtain furniture that they previously used. This project will explore the impact of the change from CSUMB to the HSP as observed by furniture providers and service providers in the Guelph-Wellington community since the HSP was launched in January 2013.

DEMOGRAPHICS OF GUELPH AND WELLINGTON
This section will examine statistics relevant to the potential need for low cost and no cost furniture in Guelph and Wellington, including the number of low-income households and numbers of individuals on social assistance.

Low Income
According to the Low Income Measure (LIM), households are considered low income when they earn less than 50% of the median adjusted household income (Welling-Dufferin-Guelph Public Health, 2013). In the National Household Survey the number of individuals living in low income in 2010 in Guelph and Wellington based on the after-tax LIM was 21,780, with the following statistics describing the demographic breakdown:
- Less than 18 years: 5,815
- Less than 6 Years: 2,135
- 18 to 64 years: 14,350
- 65 years and over: 1,615

Overall in Guelph and Wellington the low-income rates for all family types are lower than Ontario as a whole, although there are neighborhoods in Guelph and Wellington that have much higher low-income rates then the provincial level. Low-income is most prevalent in Wellington North for all family types (7.8%) (Wellington-Dufferin-Guelph Public Health, 2012).
Social Assistance

Ontario has multiple social assistance programs to help individuals in financial need. One of these programs, Ontario Works (OW) provides employment assistance and financial assistance to people in financial need (County of Wellington, 2013). The County of Wellington predicts a 3% increase in the caseload of OW clients in 2013. The average monthly total caseload for Guelph and Wellington was 1,848 in 2012, and is forecasted to be 1,903 in 2013. In Guelph and Wellington clients on OW struggle to obtain employment opportunities; as a result, a relatively high caseload of clients on OW has been sustained since 2008 (County of Wellington, 2013).
METHODS

The first phase of this project involved gathering background research, reviewing policy documents and online sources related to furniture bank models across Canada and statistics relevant to Guelph and Wellington and the provision of low cost or no cost furniture. This research informed the semi-structured interview guide that was used to interview furniture and service providers (see Appendix II). The Research Shop and PTF collaborated to determine the participants of this study, which was finalized by The Research and Policy Working Group.

FURNITURE PROVIDERS

For the purpose of this report, furniture providers were defined as not for profit organizations that provide low cost and no cost furniture to individuals in need. The furniture providers who participated in this project were the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, Habitat for Humanity (ReStore), and the Salvation Army. There were a total of 5 individuals who participated in these interviews.

SERVICE PROVIDERS

For the purpose of this report, service providers were defined as workers who provide front-line support to individuals in a variety of circumstances, often with lived experiences of poverty. The service providers who participated in this project were the Welcome in Drop in Centre, Wyndham House, Michael House, Ramoth House, the Community Resource Centre, East-Wellington Resource Centre, and Maryanne’s Place. There were a total of 10 individuals who participated in these interviews.
Participants were recruited through convenience sampling; they were selected due to their involvement in furniture provision in our community and through connections with the PTF. Most of the participants had attended community meetings surrounding furniture provision facilitated by the PTF earlier in the year. Other participants were contacted directly via email and asked to participate in the project. Overall there were 15 individuals who participated in interviews. Furniture providers and service providers were interviewed in an attempt to capture various community perspectives. Prior to data collection, the Research Ethics Board at the University of Guelph approved this project.

Individual interviews were conducted either in person or by phone, each lasting approximately one hour. Themes were highlighted to represent pressing issues related to the acquisition of low cost and no cost furniture. These themes provide general conclusions about the current provision of low cost and no cost furniture, and have been used to make some preliminary recommendations regarding how to proceed with a community effort.

RESULTS/FINDINGS

CURRENT PROVISION OF LOW COST AND NO COST FURNITURE IN GUELPH AND WELLINGTON

Guelph and Wellington does not currently have a FB. The furniture providers included in this project have separate mandates to provide low cost or no cost furniture, different organizational models and ways of engaging with the community. Attached is a guide developed by the PTF that outlines furniture providers in Guelph and Wellington, including the three involved in this program. See Appendix III.

Service providers also referred to alternative sources for acquiring furniture, such as ‘Bibles for Missions’ in Guelph and Fergus, as well as other ‘creative’ options such as lawn and garage sales, and online sites such as Kijiji.

WHO IS ACCESSING SERVICES FROM FURNITURE PROVIDERS?

The interviews with furniture and service providers suggested that clients of furniture providers vary widely in their circumstances. Clients find themselves in complex circumstances involving transition that may lead to a need for low or no cost furniture. Furniture and service providers stated that these circumstances include: homelessness, addiction, mental health issues, unemployment or underemployment, marital breakdown, and domestic violence.

While each furniture provider maintains a distinct eligibility process, all work with individuals who require assistance to furnish their homes; either due to financial constraints, issues related to ability, or unanticipated events like a house fire. Many clients are currently part of government assistance programs, such as OW, Ontario
Disability Support Program, and Employment Insurance. However, given the complexity surrounding the need for low cost and no cost furniture, many grey areas exist in the current provision of furniture. For example, the working poor may not have connections with local service agencies but may still need assistance to furnish their homes.

WHAT PEOPLE FEEL IS WORKING WELL

Overall, most furniture and service providers felt that furniture needs were not the most urgent issue in Guelph and Wellington, but that efforts to address overlap and inconsistencies among current furniture providers would make the process smoother and free up resources for more urgent needs.

Some participants felt that current partnerships and collaborations between different organizations in the community have opened up channels of communication, and increased awareness of how to access low cost and no cost furniture within the Guelph and Wellington area. Lastly, participants expressed the belief that efforts to address issues of access to transportation have positively impacted people’s ability to access low cost or no cost furniture. According to furniture providers, the Affordable Bus Pass program has enabled individuals to more affordably travel to and from furniture providers.

WHAT PEOPLE FEEL NEEDS IMPROVEMENT

There were numerous areas in which furniture and service providers felt that there was room for improvement. The main issues evident were accessibility for clients, transportation, partnerships/collaboration and resources.

Accessibility for Clients:
Eligibility
• Different criteria for different furniture providers
• Standard procedures do not allow for individual circumstances
• Intrusive procedures to determine eligibility – not client friendly
Access for Rural Areas
- Lack of resources and services related to low cost and no cost furniture available in rural communities
- Increasing number of low-income households in rural areas of Guelph and Wellington
- Furniture providers unable to provide delivery – clients must pay for transportation

Ability
- Individual circumstances require more assistance getting to and from furniture providers, and selecting furniture
  Example: physical disability, mental health, or old age
- Clients in transition have difficulty facilitating access to furniture providers because of lack of resources and inflexible work schedules
  Example: Individuals cannot arrange appointments with furniture providers because they don’t have a phone

Transportation:
Getting to Furniture Providers
- Limitations of public transit and geographical reach. Especially difficult for rural clients, and clients that cannot get to furniture providers during regular business hours.

Delivery
- Furniture providers rarely provide delivery; if they do it typically comes at a cost not feasible for clients. Especially difficult for rural clients who have to pay for delivery out of their own pockets.

Donated Items
- Lack of pick-up service for donated items
- Items end up discarded in landfills, etc. due to lack of delivery

Partnerships and Collaboration:
Between Furniture Providers and Service Providers
- Limited communication/collaboration between furniture providers and service providers creates confusion about the mandate and geographical boundaries of furniture providers’ services and procedures
FURNITURE PROVISION IN GUELPH AND WELLINGTON COUNTY

Between Furniture Providers
- Lack of collaboration
- Confusion about what each furniture provider offers
- Example: clients are referred from one provider to another for a mattress, but neither provider supplies mattresses
- Leads to inefficient distribution of furniture, and frustration for clients

Corporate Partners and Education Institutions
- Increased collaboration with corporate partners and educational institutions could increase resources and provide broader community support

Resources:
Lack of Furniture Resources
- Lack of availability of items most needed by clients
- Good quality mattresses difficult to find – concerns about bed bugs

Storage
- Inaccessible and unaffordable storage leads to clients abandoning their furniture in times of transition
- Furniture providers concerned about the items they provide being left behind – some have limits on the number of times clients can get furniture
- Furniture providers sometimes decline donations because of a lack of storage facilities

Policy Change and Support for Clients
- Change from CSUMB to HSP has led to decreased funding available for clients
- Clients have to stretch their budget further
- Some clients go without items, ex. mattresses, because of lack of funds
- Loopholes in the system being manipulated in order to get clients what they need – ex. clients use their rent money to buy furniture and when the default on rent payments, use HSP to pay rent.
COMPARISONS OF FURNITURE PROVIDERS AND SERVICE PROVIDERS

There were few differences in conversations with furniture providers and service providers. The main difference was that service providers spoke more frequently about the impact of CSUMB being redistributed. Service providers also spoke in greater detail regarding the lengths they went to in order to support their clients to access furniture. Many spoke of borrowing trucks, driving clients across town and working extended hours to ensure furniture was obtained.

IMPACT OF CSUMB REDISTRIBUTION

Furniture providers suggested that there had not been any significant changes in furniture provision, distribution or need since CSUMB had been redistributed. Many furniture providers predicted changes as the community becomes more aware that CSUMB is no longer available.

A few service providers suggested that since CSUMB had been cut it has become more difficult to support clients to access furniture. Service providers explained that many clients relied on their CSUMB funding for essential needs and no longer had a reliable source of income to fulfill those needs.

Although some furniture and service providers were tracking changes since CSUMB has been redistributed, there was little consistency in how this was done. Numerous providers were not tracking changes at all and those who were seemed to be using internal tracking tools.

FURNITURE BANK

Most furniture and service providers felt that there are organizations currently functioning to provide furniture in our community and these services should be enhanced rather than establishing a new entity. Providers discussed the importance of the established relationships of these organizations and how they are already embedded in our community.

Most providers expressed interest and enthusiasm towards establishing a FB if efforts to collaborate were unsuccessful, with tentative apprehension and uncertainty regarding the details. There were also numerous concerns regarding the impact of a FB on organizations that are currently providing furniture.

“It is really hard to find an affordable place to live, and we will do everything we can to make sure that doesn’t fall through because our clients can’t afford to furnish it.”

(Service Provider)
Although most providers were tentative and unsure in their suggestions regarding moving forward with a FB, this chart provides an overview of feedback received.

Location
- Downtown
- Central location
- In an area of need
- Satellite offices for rural areas

Eligibility
- Open to the public
- Only for individuals on social assistance
- Clients referred from social services

Business Model
- Donation based
- Clients could pay for furniture if they can afford it
- Run by the City of Guelph

Staff
- Staffed by volunteers
- Staff could be paid in credits to be used at the FB

CONCLUSIONS

“We all want to know the best way we can help. When you strip away everything else, it comes down to helping our community.”
(Furniture Provider)
GENERAL CONCLUSIONS
In general, furniture and service providers described individuals accessing the services of furniture providers to have lived experiences of poverty, and the majority of these individuals were described to be in a period of transition. While furniture needs are not the largest priority of participating service organizations, many suggested that more support for the provision of furniture would allow organizations more space to tackle higher priority community issues. There were various suggestions for kinds of support including more funding, access to storage and enhancing transportation services for furniture clients.
Among the largest concerns of furniture providers and service providers is the process of acquiring furniture, citing eligibility processes as confusing, strict, and sometimes intrusive for clients. There was also significant concern regarding the accessibility of these services for rural clients due to a lack of resources in those areas. Transportation limits how individuals attend furniture providers and the lack of free delivery services provided to clients’ limits how individuals get furniture home. This issue is intensified for individuals living in rural areas.
The lack of effective partnerships and collaborations in the community, between furniture providers and between furniture providers and service providers has resulted in a lack of awareness of existing services and inefficient client services in some situations. Increasing collaboration with corporate partners and educational institutions could enhance the available resources and provide broader community support. There is also a lack of resources available to clients, and there is some evidence that the acquisition of furniture has been more difficult given the lack of resources that the shift from CSUMB to the HSP necessitated.
Lastly, although most providers were not opposed to a FB, it was commonly suggested that collaboration among current furniture providers should be considered before establishing a new entity.
LIMITATIONS OF THE REPORT
The primary limitation of this report relates to the selection and recruitment of participants. The sample was a convenience sample, which was obtained through existing relationships with the PTF. Thus, the sample for this study does not provide a comprehensive analysis of the feasibility of a furniture bank, but highlights some of the priorities related to the provision of furniture. Further, this study did not involve the clients of participating organizations, and as such a study that works with individual community members accessing furniture in Guelph and Wellington would be beneficial.
RECOMMENDATIONS
FOR FURNITURE PROVIDERS:
FURNITURE PROVISION IN GUELPH AND WELLINGTON COUNTY

- Services should be made more client-friendly, by increasing awareness of the process of acquiring furniture, and less intrusive screening of clients to determine eligibility.
- Increased communication and collaboration between furniture providers would make the provision of furniture more efficient and avoid overlap in the community:
  - For example, a furniture provider network could be developed that could meet regularly to discuss furniture needs.
  - Develop a website to be a repository that would allow easy access to conversations regarding furniture provision.
- Furniture providers should have the opportunity to access a standard evaluation tool that could track any changes in how and to whom furniture is being provided since CSUMB was redistributed.
  - This tool should also give providers the opportunity to track how many clients were turned away for service and why.
- Furniture providers should be trained to address concerns of bed bugs. Health Canada, the Toronto Bed Bug Project Steering Committee and the Toronto Furniture Bank have policies and resources that can be used to ensure best practice.

FOR SERVICE PROVIDERS:
- Stronger partnerships and greater collaboration with furniture providers would streamline the eligibility process for clients, and improve their access to low and no cost furniture.
  - Service providers could have access to the suggested Furniture Providers website, that would provide information regarding where to direct clients and when furniture may be available at what location.
- Service providers should have the opportunity to access a standard evaluation tool that could track any changes in how and to whom furniture is being provided since CSUMB was redistributed.

FOR A POTENTIAL FURNITURE BANK:
- Further research should be done to directly engage clients using furniture providers’ services and refine their needs to inform the design of a furniture bank.
- Established furniture providers and service providers should be involved and consulted throughout this process.
• Partnerships with corporate sponsors, for example Sleep Country Canada or the Brick, could provide greater resources to the furniture bank and avoid the wastage of furniture.
• Partnerships with universities, colleges, and high schools for fundraising activities and to facilitate donations of furniture would provide broader community support for a furniture bank.
• Eligibility procedures, physical location, and access to transportation need to be made client friendly.
• Rural areas should be prioritized in the planning and implementation of a bank by partnering with service providers in rural areas and making it the bank accessible to rural clients.
